LOST PROPERTY & SECOND HAND UNIFORMS

As you would be aware, after a significant number of complaints, we changed the lost property arrangements earlier this year from the 'free for all' lost property cupboard where items went missing, to a service where labelled items are sorted and returned to classrooms.

We have been deciding what to do with the lost property items not labelled and other donated second hand uniforms. I know the 'Friends of CLG Facebook' page has a lot of activity for buying, swapping and selling however we are introducing another option to further improve our service to families.

Every now and then we will have a gold coin donation sale at school. In the meantime however, we plan to donate all non-labelled lost property and donated second hand uniform items to the 'Big A Boutique' located close to the school at Church of Christ, 539 Goodwood Road, Colonel Light Gardens. They will sell these items to families at a nominal cost.

The "Big A" has the following opening hours:

- MONDAY - 8:30am - 12:00pm
- TUESDAY - CLOSED
- WEDNESDAY - 8:30am - 12:00pm
- THURSDAY - CLOSED
- FRIDAY - 8:30am - 12:00pm
- SATURDAY - 8:30am - 2:00pm
1st & 3rd OF EACH MONTH ONLY

Please note it is cash only as they do not have EFTPOS facilities.

Kind regards

ROBOTICS CLUB - ROBOCUP JUNIOR

At CLG we offer an after school Robotics club for the upper primary students. Students who are interested joined the club at the beginning of term 2. The club is facilitated after school on a Thursday and is led by our dedicated parent volunteers Rodney Mitchell and Ling Tan.

Teaching robotics inspires creative and innovative thinking in students. Programming is often too complex and abstract for students to grasp. However, robotics provides a simpler way to understand and offers a more tangible introduction to programming. Robots allow students to see the direct result of their programming instructions when transferred to the device. They help teach students about precision and logic of instructions by trial and error. Students apply learnt concepts by breaking down the task into logical steps.

Some students may struggle with the concepts at first and often feel frustrated. This is a valuable life lesson that teaches our students perseverance and determination when faced with challenges. Students learning robotics are able to channel their frustration by collaborating with each other to find other ways to work out problems. All their hard work makes looking at what the final product can do even more rewarding. Not only does robotics teach students how to persist and solve problems, but it also helps them develop their maturity and prepare them for real-world situations.

Read more about why robotics should be used in schools by The Conversation at:
<http://theconversation.com/five-reasons-to-teach-robotics-in-schools-49357>

Robotics is directly connected to the new Digital Technologies curriculum and area of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics).

The school has been running this programme for a few years now and the students really engage with it. We use Lego Mindstorms EV3 robots. They are relatively expensive compared with other robots and the school now owns 5 devices. Students can code in visual or text based programming languages making them suitable for a wide range of age groups, from primary to secondary aged students. There are lots of resources and educational initiatives available to get these robots integrated in school.

We are currently using the Robocup Junior competition to engage students during robotics club. We have teams of students working on different challenges. Two teams are working on training their robot to battle others in the Sumo challenge. The students need to use the sensors and motors to program the robot to stay within a black circular boundary and to push the opponent's robot out of the ring. The other team is working on the Rescue challenge where the robot follows a black line to complete the obstacle course and rescue the victim capsule out of the chemical spill.

On Monday the 2nd of July the group of students travelled to Education Development Centre in Hindmarsh to participate in a whole day workshop. Schools entering in the competition came together with experts to learn new techniques and work on their entry for the competition. They collaborated with others working on the same challenge and asked questions to the experts. It really demonstrated the essence of STEM learning. They had to build their robot (engineering), program their robot (technology), work on the maths such as angles and speed to program their robot accurately (maths) and utilise some of the sensors on the robot such as colour, ultrasonic and touch (science).

It was a great day and the students found it very valuable. I would like to take the opportunity to thank Ling and Rodney for their time on the day and mentoring the students. The programme wouldn't be possible without them.

Student comments on the day:

- "The maths is hurting my head!"
- "We are trying to figure out the cables for the ultrasonic sensor"
- "When we tested it, it moved forward and when it sensed the black line it stopped. That was good."
- "This is really hard and we had to keep trying and testing."
- "We built a structure to defend the robot but it was unstable and wobbly."

...are lighting up the class with their Science, Design and Technology. We have designed gift cards that incorporate circuits using LED globes, battery holders, batteries, and copper tape.

It's a delicate and tricky challenge but students are to be commended for their resilience and perseverance. Everyone has been successful throughout this enlightening experience!

Japan Junction ~ Where you'll find cool facts and info.....

This week's introduction: Ukiyo-e (oo-key-yo-eh)

In 1868, Japan ended a long period of national isolation and became open to imports from the West. In turn, Japanese art came to Europe and America and quickly gained popularity. The influence of Japanese art on Western culture became known as 'Japonism'.

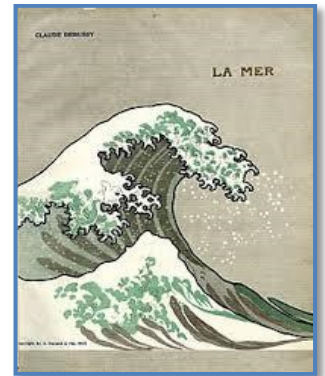

Japonism became a prominent trend and had a strong influence on European artists specially the early Impressionists such as Degas, Manet and Monet as well as Post-Impressionists such as Van Gogh and Gauguin and also Art Nouveau artists such as Lautrec and Klimt.

Ukiyo-e (Woodblock print, literally means Floating World) was central to forming the West's perception of Japanese art and Hokusai (1760-1849) was seen as the emblematic Ukiyo-e artist.

Regarding influence over impressionism, some fine examples of Ukiyo-e are among the exhibits for 'Colours of Impressionism' now showing at the Art Gallery of South Australia.

Hokusai's most popular work is the Ukiyo-e series Thirty-six Views of Mount Fuji which was completed in his 70's and The Great Wave off Kanagawa, also known as The Great Wave is one of these 46 prints, which is unarguably one of the most recognizable works of Japanese art in the world. This iconic work influenced many artists in many different genres including composer Debussy. The wave appeared on the cover of the score of his orchestral work, La mer: The Sea.

The famous American composer John Williams used simplified versions of the motifs of La mer in the score he wrote for Jaws... Mmmm clever and interesting....

The composition of The Great Wave comprises three main elements: the sea whipped up by a storm, three boats and a glimpse of Mt Fuji. This high tensioned image is totally captured and created by Hokusai's mind's eye with perspective, as he could not stand in the middle of the ocean to sketch this amazing landscape.

As well as the European connection of this magnificent masterpiece, surprisingly there are also Australian connections too.

1. Quiksilver's logo depicts a large wave with a mountain on a red background which was inspired by Hokusai's work.
2. National Gallery of Victoria possess one of the prints.
3. Scottish - Aboriginal artist Lin Onus used The Great Wave as the basis for his most famous work, Michael and I are just slipping down to the pub for a minute.

4. CLG has one too! Last term, Year 5/ 6 students created a huge Mosaic mural which now hangs from the ceiling of Doolette building to welcome the CLG community. Enjoy the wave of achievement from our talented students.

BTW, apart from Mt Fuji in the distance, have you realized that there are also 30 people in the image? Can you find them?

Arigato.

REMINDER - YEAR 7 CANBERRA 2019 TRIP - REMINDER

This is a friendly reminder that the deposit for the year 7 Canberra trip in 2019 MUST be paid by Monday 30th July 2018.

We received a large response from parents committing to their year 7 students attending the trip in 2019 but we have only received a handful of the commitment to pay letters and deposits. We must pay a deposit for this trip to the organiser in the next week along with numbers attending, therefore it is essential that a deposit is paid.

The Canberra trip is a fantastic opportunity for our year 7 students and we are happy for flexibility with payments and have set up an affordable payment arrangement to make it easier for parents to pay. If you wish for your year 7 student to attend but can't make the deposit payment on Monday 30th July, please contact Stef Marston on 8276 1523 or email stef.marston918@schools.sa.edu.au to discuss.
